

Lucy Terry Prince Research Collection

PVMA Library

Lucy Terry came to Deerfield as a child in c. 1730, as the property of the Ebenezer Wells. Her life and marriage to Abijah Prince, a free Black man in Deerfield, has been studied by several authors, most notably David Proper and Gretchen H. Gerzina, both of whom have research collections in the PVMA library that either focus on, or include, research files on Lucy Terry Prince. The collection below primarily consists of copies of materials and writings relating to Lucy Terry Prince

Container List:

Folder 1: Published articles and writings

Folder 2: Newspaper clippings and photocopies

Folder 3: Misc. photocopies

Folder 4: Photocopies of manuscript material

Folder 5: Biographical notes and correspondence

Folder 6: Correspondence and notes by Mary Ball