

Mills, William F. (b. 1815)

Religious diary, May 2-Dec. 13, 1840. Malden, MA

1vol. mss 20cm

A diary of spiritual reflection, meditation and speculation. The writer apparently had a conversion experience in connection with the death of his wife, Ellen. Full of religious transports and perfectionist theology, offers intimate insight into the mind of an evangelical in the 1840s. He appears to have been a Methodist.

Shelved in the Diary Collection